ELEANOR POST

In consideration of her interest in the college and activities, and because of scholarship, personality, and ability, Eleanor Post was elected by the Class of 1928 as its most outstanding member. The greatest recognition of what she has accomplished for Illinois Woman's College has come in her election to Cap and Gown. Besides this, Eleanor is president of Lambda Alpha Mu Society and varsity hockey captain; she has played on class hockey and basketball teams for four years, and is a member of French Club and Dramatic Club. It is because of her exceptional ability that Eleanor has taken part in such a number of activities, and it is her personality that has made her one of the best known and most popular of the Seniors.

BERTHA SWEARINGEN

The Junior Class selected Bertha Swearingen in choosing its most all-around girl. Bertha's activities cover the widely separated fields of dramatics, athletics, debate, and student government. In December, she acted as representative of the Illinois Woman's College at the convention of the American Federation of Students at Lincoln, Nebraska. For the past year she has been vice-president of Lambda Alpha Mu Society. Bertha's chief interest seems to be in student activities; in this capacity, her understanding personality and charm have made her one of the most likeable girls in school.

FRANCES KEYS

Excellence in scholarship, interest in college affairs, personality, ability, and activities were considered when the Sophomores elected Frances Keys by a large majority as the most outstanding girl of the Class of 1930. Frances has divided her activities between athletics, Athletic Board of which she is secretary, and class activities. She is president of the Sophomore Class and of the Tironian Club, and is evidently interested in so many things that it is hard to designate her greatest interest. However, we have been told that the study of music is not the least of them. Her election as the most all-around girl is merely a vote of confidence in her ability as a student, as an executive, and as a friend.

GRACE CHAPMAN

It was very hard to select someone to fill the qualifications of best all-around girl after such a short acquaintance; however, in the election of Grace Chapman as its president and then as its most all-around girl, the Class of 1931 has twice expressed its confidence in her ability. Grace is a member of the Press Club, and has won recognition for her writing by her admittance to Scribblers. A year is a very short time in which to prove one's self; nevertheless, Grace has become one of the outstanding Freshmen.

DR. CLARENCE P. MCCLELLAND

It is largely because of the work of our president, Dr. Clarence P. McClelland, that we have been able to have as the theme of our book—Progress. Dr. McClelland came to us almost three years ago, from Drew Seminary, Carmel, New York, to carry on the work of Joseph R. Harker, who retired after thirty-two years of work to advance the standards of our college. Dr. McClelland came with fresh vision and vitality to carry on the plans made for I. W. C. by those who love her.

His first step, as we remember it, was the introduction of our present "cut system", instituted in 1926. It was followed by the organization of the Press Club, which has taken such an active part in the extension campaign, and which is doing valuable work in the field of publicity. Class segregation and the increasing enrollment necessitated more room in the dormitory, and at last we find the dream of each Senior class realized—the Senior houses were a reality. One, then two, were provided, but this year we find the college still growing so that a part of the class of 1930 may find itself lodged in a third Senior House. And then came the greatest achievement—McMurray Hall, the new science building. Dr. McClelland furnished much of the untiring energy that made the endowment campaign a success and supplemented the wonderful offer made to the college by Senator James E. McMurray of Chicago.

Thus we see that it is to President McClelland we shall look for the expression of our success, and upon him lies the responsibility of our future progress.

1929

It's lovely on an afternoon
To go a-gathering wool—
And fill my basket well with dreams
Till it is heaped clear full.
I pick them in the meadow,
Beside a lazy stream;
Or find them high up on the clouds—
Ah, there's a lovely dream.

And then on winter evenings
I knit up all the yarn
That's spun from out my summer dreams,
And store them safe from harm.
In cheery firelit corners
Where gloom can never go—
But some steal out the chimney
And melt the winter snow.

ORGANIZATIONS

CAP AND GOWN

Cap and Gown, the Senior honorary society, has been in existence since 1924, when it was organized by the presidents of the four major organizations of the college, Audrey King, Carrie Dyarman, Mary Elizabeth Roark, and Helen Bly.

It was organized for the purpose of bringing about recognition and encouragement of excellence both in scholarship and extra-curricular activities. Its ideal is the ideal of the college: "Knowledge, Faith, and Service."

The members for the succeeding year are always chosen during the last chapel service, and is always a matter of great interest to everyone in school, since there is no particular precedent as to membership, and the names of the new members are kept secret until the actual public selection is made. As the choice of successors lies with the society itself, neither the faculty nor the college assume any responsibility for the election.

The Cap and Gown of 1927 had, as its members, Margaret Burgess, Alice Baker, and Edna Byers, who chose as their successors, Eleanor Post, Alice Rengstorff, and Martha Byland.

At the beginning of the year 1927-28, the Y. W. C. A. was reorganized into interest groups whose meetings took the place of the former Sunday afternoon meetings. There is one group interested in vocational guidance, another in travel and the race question, and a third in charm. Occasional joint meetings are held at which one group or another presents a program to show some phase of the work it has done.

The annual Christmas and Easter parties which the Y. W. gives to some of the children in town are always successful, and they are recognized as having a definite place in the social service work in Jacksonville.

THE COLLEGE GREETINGS

The "College Greetings" has changed a great deal since 1913. From a small magazine it has become a very business-like publication of newspaper proportions. The first editor was Abbie Peavay, aided by a faculty advisory board of which Miss Johnston was a member. It was published once a month. We now see the "Greetings" twice a month, and the "Greetings Quarterly" four times during the year. The staff is a member of the Illinois Collegiate Press Association, and is entitled to send delegates to its annual convention. The "Greetings" has grown up amazingly, and while we would not venture to predict its future, it cannot fail to keep pace with the college.

The "Illiwoco" staff considers it an honor to have had the privilege of publishing this book which each Junior Class leaves as a reminder of itself—a reminder which it hopes will be pleasant.

Its name, handed down for thirteen years, was well chosen. In the first book, published in 1915, we read, "We must not forget to mention the results of a name contest in which much interest was shown last fall. To Dorothy Stevens, Grace Heller, Mary Louise Powell, and Feril Hess belongs the honor of naming the first annual "Illiwoco".

The first "Illiwoco" says, "We would remind you that we have attempted to set a standard for future annuals that may be lived up to and even surpassed." We do not hope to surpass, but it is our wish that the "Illiwoco" of 1929 will merit the interest and support given it by the student body.

LUCY E. JONES	RHODA OLDS
GRACE CHAPMAN	MARY KATHERINE RICE

The Press Club was organized in the fall of 1926, at the instigation of Dr. McClelland, and under the direction of Margaret Quick. It is an honorary journalistic society, membership being determined on a competitive basis. The purpose of the organization is to give its members practical experience in journalism, including such matters as finding news and recognizing it when they see it, possibilities of journalistic style, and details of how to get an article published. The club is constantly sending out articles—particularly about life and events at the college—to various newspapers throughout the country.

The club is an active organ in the "college extension program" which Dr. McClelland is sponsoring. It is indirectly under the supervision of Mr. Emrick, a well-known feature writer for Chicago papers, and publicity manager for the college.

DAD'S DAY

Another Dad's Day! And the ever-increasing number of Dads is testimony of its popularity. In the afternoon, the swimming exhibition furnished entertainment, and it was rather a hilarious party. In the evening the Dramatic Club gave several one-act plays—and again “Nocturne” and the love story of Chopin and George Sande.

Dad's Day has become an annual event at I. W. C., and it is one to which everyone looks forward as the time when she “entertains Father”. Various departments have furnished the entertainment, but this year the Dramatic Department directed the feature program of the day.

SCRIBBLERS' CLUB

The Society of Scribblers has been one of varying activity and consequently, one of varying success. For the past year its membership has been most limited, but with the talent of the Sophomore and Freshman Classes, Scribblers felt justified in increasing its membership.

It was organized in March, 1922, and was sponsored by Miss Johnston, the present advisor. As its name signifies, it is a society whose membership is limited to girls who have proved their desire and ability to write. All manuscripts are anonymously submitted to the society, and are judged on a basis of literary merit.

This year, with Charles Pearson as conductor, the two organizations, the Choir and the Glee Club, were reorganized on a competitive basis and combined into what is known as the College Choir. On March 5, the annual concert was given, and met with very favorable comment. The Choir has taken an active part in the daily chapel, and in the vesper services. On various occasions, it has given concerts out of town, and has broadcast from the local station and from KMOX in St. Louis.

Such has been the development of the Choir under the capable direction of Mr. Pearson, during the past year, that the college has seriously considered sponsoring more concerts and possibly a concert tour during the coming year.

TIRONIAN CLUB

Tironian Club, an organization for students in the Department of Secretarial Training, was organized in the fall of 1926. The name refers to Tiro, amanuensis to Cicero, and first known writer of shorthand; a name suggested for the Illinois Woman's College by Mr. John Robert Gregg, founder of the Gregg system of shorthand and president of the Gregg Schools.

The club, while of a social nature, has as its aim the general improvement of secretarial work and at each meeting a prominent speaker addresses the members on some phase of that subject—The History of the Department in the College, Commercial Courses in Relation to General Education, Vocational Training in America and Europe, et cetera.

One of the most important activities of Tironian is the publishing of The Radio, a magazine especially for stenographers and secretaries. The paper is "broadcast" monthly and all articles published are chosen from regularly assigned class work. Truly, the magazine is appropriately named, since it reaches schools not only in the four corners of America, but European schools as well.

INDIANA CLUB

Among the states represented at the college every year, Indiana always ranks second. Because of this fact, the Hoosiers have organized the Indiana Club. Very little has been heard of them this year, except when they occasionally sing "On the Banks of the Wabash" or "Indiana Moon" in the dining room.

This year they have only two faculty members: Miss Johnston and Miss Remley.

MAY DAY

May Day in Old England! It is May Day, indeed, and to the great annual festival the villagers have gathered at the invitation of the king. The crowd is eagerly awaiting the coronation of the queen whom the king is to choose from the many guests. But this is not the only cause for enthusiasm—a great crowd of entertainers have gathered and even the mystical clouds, moths, stars, and sky join Robinhood and his merry men from the Greenwood.

Such will be the story of the 1928 May fete in which selected groups under the direction of the Physical Education Department will participate. This year the Departments of Art, Music, and Home Economics are assisting in the presentation.

VARSITY HOCKEY

The hockey season of 1927 ended, as is the custom, with the annual inter-collegiate game played on the Illinois College field on the morning of November 24. The ball went into play at 9:30, and the game that followed was one of the best played by either college from the standpoint of sportsmanship and teamwork. The sidelines were crowded with students from the Hill, and from I. W. C.

During the first part of the game, the ball seemed to go from one end of the field to the other; and at the end of the half, the Illinois College team led with a score of 4-2. At the first of the second half, I. W. C. put in a new lineup, and thereafter, the ball remained in or near the Illinois College goal. The forward line, closely followed by the halfbacks, kept the ball rolling, and when the final whistle blew, I. W. C. had piled up a score of 9-5.

The Woman's College fullbacks played an aggressive game, being for the most part on or beyond the fifty-yard line, and permitting the I. C. team to approach their goal on only two occasions in the entire second half. Post as captain, directed the team while on the field, and was assisted during the first half by Jackson.

The Freshman Society was first organized as Alpha Pi Delta in 1921, but was reorganized this fall into four separate societies. This change was necessitated by the size of the class of 1931. Phi Tau Epsilon and Kappa Sigma Theta consider themselves sister societies, and the same relation exists between Delta Theta Nu and Phi Kappa Delta.

To Omar, spirit of the Orient
Reigning majestically upon a throne
Silk draped in richest colors which are prone
To call to mind the languorous days once spent
Upon the desert, in a silken tent
In the oasis, where the lazy drone
Of bees, in gardens, riotously thrown,
A gentle solace to the spirit lent,
I now inscribe these lines, and may they hold
Some thanks for all the blessings manifold
Which he in many years has brought to me
I saw him last, as in the sun he sat,
Yearning as ever that he might be free.
Now he is dead. He was—a lovely cat.

CALENDAR

September 20-22—Another seige of Freshman orientation! We old girls all agree that the aforesaid orientation is a process of getting the poor Freshies so well acquainted with the school, its customs, its history, and its traditions, that they fail to realize that there are such things as upper classmen—with the exception of the girls who watch to see that they don't get homesick. As a result, it falls to us to spend the rest of the year in "occidenting" them.

September 22—Registration may well be defined as a long, wearisome process of getting oneself signed up for and properly enrolled in classes one has no desire to be in—and, of course, they all come at the most terrible hours. The only person who didn't seem to be rushing madly around (with no apparent purpose) was Dr. Stewart. She brought her knitting, and sat quietly where she could watch us, and wonder just why.

September 25—One of the year's social functions has been brought out into the arena, and properly done away with. But the Y. W. reception tonight wasn't half bad. This may have been due to the program which was given by various members of the Music Faculty. We were inclined to fear for a moment that Mr. Pearson had enrolled as an active member of Y. W. until he encored with "On the Road to Mandalay" and "The Bell-ringers".

October 1—The Juniors were quite startled and duly upset this morning when they overheard some of the Freshies asking some more of the same whether they intended to attend the Junior-Freshman party tonight. Investigation was not comforting. The party was postponed.

October 8—Just about everyone came to at least one of the dance programs which Ruth Page and her company gave in the gym today. Both afternoon and evening audiences were delighted. The dances which most of us will remember were "The Russian Doll", "The Flapper and the Quarterback", and "The Gavotte".

October 15—Another big event in the school year! The Illinois Theatre opened tonight, and the school was just about deserted. The theatre is really very nice—including the painted and uniformed ushers—and Norma Talmadge did make a lovely Camille.

October 17—Mr. Pearson's recital tonight gave a good send-off for the rest of the year.

October 24—The student body was tea-ed and high-tea-ed this afternoon when the Seniors and Juniors entertained their sister classes. (The Juniors finally got that other party off their minds.) In the evening, the Sciotti-Anderson duo gave a two-piano recital.

October 29—From all reports, the Sophomore-Freshman character party this evening was a decided success.

October 31—Brrrr! Ghosts! Blood-curdling shrieks! And this was only the beginning. When we finally got past the skeletons and all the rest, we went up and danced. The judges were perplexed all evening, but finally awarded the prizes to Frances Shriver and Andrina Iverson. Four ancient hags did a special dance for us—a favor granted to mortals only on such occasions as the present.

November 9—The Sophomores beat the Freshies in hockey—but that's as it should be.

November 11—Everyone was willing to march in the Legion parade, just for the sake of getting out of classes. The Juniors "got left" in the game with the Seniors.

November 14—Mr. Ingalls gave a very charming recital this evening. His original compositions were particularly well liked.

November 19—Oh, isn't he the cutest thing? Do you have all your dances traded? Did you ever see such lovely flowers? . . . But wasn't it all just perfect? Such music! Such dancing! Tired? Who ever heard of getting tired at a prom?

November 24—The general impression was that we had a dinner—but who could be bothered about food after that game! We really got a little nervous at the half—but that was a mere matter of form—'cause we knew our girls.

November 28—Miss McGehee's recital.

December 5—Of course, we haven't decided yet on the momentous question of the reality of progress, but Mr. Durant's lecture certainly aroused a great deal of comment. For example, at least half the students would like to know whether he is French—and no doubt the other half would like to know just what he really was talking about. And the rest of us would like to know whether he had anything important to say but forgot to put it in his notes.

December 11—Christmas vesper service.

December 13—It pays to be a history major, because then you can belong to History Club, and the aforesaid organization proved its worth when its members all "got in on" the announcement of Miss Barber's engagement. We can't help wondering—was it malice of forethought that made Mr. Pearson sing "The Bells-ringers"?

December 16—Who has time to bother with anything? This is vacation.

January 4—When'd you get back? Did you have a perfectly wonderful time? And have you seen all the diamonds? Don't know how many there are, but— And it is sort of good to be back and see all the girls again. Why, even the Faculty look like old friends—just now.

January 6—The Seniors are all thrilled over their new rings which arrived this morning. Any Senior who was biting her nails this morning was not worried over exams.

January 12—The latest fad in professorial circles is roller hockey. They haven't told the rules to the world in general, but rumor says it's a good game. Miss MacGonagle was the only reported casualty—and she was lucky in getting off with a battered finger. The game was accompanied by music, ranging from Yankee Doodle to Chopin's Funeral March.

January 23—Registration. For remarks, may we refer you to the same event as occurring in September? The Juniors won the inter-class debate.

January 31-February 4—Exams. No remarks necessary. Too much has been said on the subject in the past.

February 7—The new semester starts, and whatever else that means, we are through with exams for a week or two.

February 12—We hear varying reports from the president's reception last night, but all to the effect that it was a beautiful and successful affair.

February 16—Tonight was Geneva stunt night, but the stunts failed to materialize.

February 19—There was a jolly crowd at Gates' tonight, and Daddy Gates had a new store of Scotch jokes. Where does he find them, and how does he remember them? And someone discovered that Mother Gates is very fond of chili sauce.

February 22—It really seems that the Faculty and Miss Wackerle have conspired to kill off the student body—else why feed them as if they had never eaten before and then subject them to a half hour of torture consisting of inability to laugh sufficiently?

February 27—Miss Richardson's recital.

FORECAST

March 3—The Sophomore dance—nuf said.

March 5—The Choir concert will undoubtedly be a success—we've heard the girls sing before.

March 10—The Freshmen are going to entertain their big sisters and we hope they are better informed on the subject than the big sisters were once before.

March 12—Bourskaya! Who? and what? and why?

March 19—Dad's Day is always one of the most pleasantly anticipated events of the year.

March 22—Organ recital by Alice Rengstorff.

March 26—Recital by Mrs. Forrest.

March 31—I. C. basketball game—maybe.

April 1—Easter vesper service.

April 4-10—Spring vacation.

April 12—Violin recital by Helen Asbury.

April 11—Ensemble recital.

April 21—Junior prom!

April 23—Home Economics tea; Madrigal concert.

April 26—Piano recital by Alice Rengstorff.

April 28—Freshman Frolic.

April 30—Senior public speaking recital.

May 5—Lambda banquet.

May 7—May Day—Y. W. breakfast—and a program if it doesn't rain.

May 12—Sophomore-Senior party.

May 19—Greetings banquet.

May 28-June 1—Finals—and they won't be tennis, either.

June 24—Commencement.

Schmidt, Ruff, Sipfle, Swearingen

HONORS OF THE YEAR

The Junior-Sophomore debate, held January 23, was won by the Juniors, who were the recipients of the Wesley-Mather prize. The question was: "Resolved: That full-time employment for women outside the home should be abolished." The Juniors upheld the affirmative, and the Sophomores, the negative.

The debaters on the Junior team were Imogene Ruff, Bertha Swearingen, Lucille Sipfle, and Clyta Schmidt. The Sophomore team was made up of Charlotte DeSelm, Frieda Stilli, Olena Cole, and Katherine Ellis. Reverend Smith of Centenary Church acted as chairman, and Miss Abbott was timekeeper. Reverend J. M. Stevenson of State Street Presbyterian Church, Judge James M. Barnes, and Miss Leonard served as judges.

S. A. I. CONTEST

Alice Rengstorff represented the local chapter of Sigma Alpha Iota at a district convention held in Cincinnati during the last week in January. While there, she attended a musical contest held in connection with the convention, and won first place. This entitles her to attend the national convention to be held in Schenectady, New York, in June.

MAY QUEEN

Jane Tobie was chosen from among the members of the Class of 1928, to hold the position and the honors of May Queen.

I. W. C. I. C. GAME

Thanksgiving was a day of great rejoicing for the girls at I. W. C. for, after they were almost frightened at the end of the first half of the hockey game which they played with I. C., they came back in the second, and left with a 9-5 score in their favor.

ON SAINT MARY LAKE

GLACIER PARK

During February, Professor Knopf held a one-man show of recent paintings at the Chicago Galleries. Her ability as an instructor is well known, and it is largely her forceful personality and unfailing interest that have made the art department one of such strength. However, the student body has had little opportunity to appreciate the creative work which has gained for her a reputation as one of the foremost and promising painters of America. Excerpts from the press comments of Marguerite B. Williams of the Chicago Daily News were: "The mountain and sea pictures of Nellie A. Knopf bring to us a remarkably accomplished artist whose power I had scarcely realized before in a single canvass here and there."

"Miss Knopf has developed her visual sensations until she has arrived at something quite her own in painting . . . Her handling of paint in her slashing marines has a strength and vigor that one expects rather to find in a man's work, while her sensitiveness to color in her mountain pictures seems more of a feminine order.

"Miss Knopf shows much artistic discrimination, I think, when she takes a slice out of the mountain panoramas and concentrates on a weft of color and textures."

In the Chicago Evening Post, Lena McCauley's comments read: "So distinct is the brush work and style of construction practiced by Nellie A. Knopf, that although one but crosses the gallery to the walls beyond the dividing pillars, there is a recognition of a commanding individuality. This must be in-born since the artist has been under the criticism of such masters as Charles W. Woodbury, John F. Carson, and Birger Sanzen. That she has held her own is a test of strength."

And again, in the Chicago Tribune: "There is a thrill in this straightforward painting. It is as refreshing as a cold shower for petulant nerves. The realities are proportioned for you. Values are equalized. You and the universe are brought together firmly, sensibly, and the justice of nature, undiluted, is made manifest."

STEWART AT BAT

Faculty hockey is a popular sport each fall—as is attested by the well-filled bleachers. This event was rivalled only by the croquet tournament, and feeling ran so high that Referee Miner had difficulty in enforcing regulations. The object of the game is to keep the eye on the ball, and in choosing all-star players. Miss Miner said, "Next to myself, I feel that Dr. Stewart has displayed the greatest amount of concentration and thought in this game. Miss Hamblet, while fast, was a bit distracted by the continual restlessness of the ball." It is regrettable that no final decision was reached as to score, however. The game broke up when Miss Alexander accused Dr. McClelland of kicking the ball.

Sue: Is she keeping Lent because she repents of her double life?

Ethel: No. Because of her double chin.

Miss Johnston: No. Bananas are not a fruit.

Thelma: Then what are they?

Miss Johnston: A mistake.

The new and unusual—that sparkling reality which is known as the life of each school year—is caught and held forever within the pages of Bureau built annuals. The ability to assist in making permanent such delightful bits of class spontaneity rests in an organization of creative artists guided by some 17 years of College Annual work, which experience is the knowledge of balance and taste and the fitness of doing things well. In the finest year books of American Colleges the sincerity and genuineness of Bureau Engraving quality instantly impresses one. They are class records that will live forever.

SMALL TALK

First Egg: Where's your brain?

Second Ditto: Under my pharynx there. Darned little, isn't it?

1. Oh, look! I cut my nerve cord in two!

2. That's too bad. You might need it. How many hearts have you?

1. Five, but I can't find one. I guess it's broken.

2. You really ought to be more careful. I told you it was dangerous. May I take a look at your epidermis?

1. I have eight whiskers on each segment.

2. You have? That's funny. I can't even feel mine. Male or female?

1. Both. Do you think I'm a crayfish?

2. Say, when are you going to cut off your tail?

1. It's not as important as the brain.

2. Sure wish I had some appendages.

1. Are you going to close up till next period?

2. I'm just going to throw my anterior end away.

1. But, honestly, when will we be through with these earthworms?

A Blue Ribbon Annual

Relieving the staff of mechanical details is one of the duties any good school annual printer feels a part of his responsibility. Further than this, Blue Ribbon books enjoy a constant personal contact service, available all through the year at the staff's call. Assistance to the Business Manager in helping with the problems of subscriptions and the assistance in the sale of advertising space, credited by many as being the greatest help offered by any organization in the field, are additional features of Blue Ribbon Service. The size of a book or school makes no difference in Blue Ribbon production, for there is just one set of standard methods of producing a book. That is why all Blue Ribbon annuals are of the highest grade materials and workmanship. Latest developments in style are always found in Blue Ribbon books, yet the novelties that pass with the night are never approached. An annual is built for future years. Hence, the proper care and due consideration of all details are reflected in Blue Ribbon annuals. You may be proud of your annual if it is a Blue Ribbon book printed by
